EMPIRE CONFEREES SPEED UP AT OTTAWA

PREMIER HOME, TURNS FIRST TO KIDD REPORT

Will Be First Matter to Engage Attention Dr. Tolmie Announces on Return to Victoria To-day

PRAISES LUMBERMEN'S CONFERENCE EFFORTS

Ottawa Financial Men Predict B.C. Will Be Among First to Return to Normal Conditions

Consideration of the Kidd report with the cabinet will be the first work to engage the attention of Premier S. F. Tolmie who returned from Ottawa to Victoria to-day. Other than saying that the Kidd commission deserved the thanks of the people for the work they had done and the many excellent suggestions they have made, he would not comment on the report.

Despite his many activities during the two months in the east Premier Tolmie said he had returned home with "his head and tail up, feeling fine."

Recent advance in the price of gasoline to British Columbia consumers was one matter which Premier Tolmie discussed while in Ottawa. On receipt of complaints from his home province he was told by federal officials that there was only one method of complaint and possible subsequent investigation.

Any six citizens of British Columbia may file with the registrar of the Department of Labor, affidavits in which they set out their belief that there is a combination in restraint of trade which is responsible for the increase. If the registrar finds sufficient grounds he may recommend to the government a judicial investigation.

That, said the Premier, is the only redress.

LUMBER TRADE BID
Premier Tolmie was enthusiastic to this phase of the work done by the B.C. lumber delegation before and during the Ottawa conference. With him they interviewed the federal cabinet before the conference and made a comprehensive representation of their case. This resulted in tenders being called for subsidies to shipments from British Columbia.

"During the conference they have done fine work and there is reason to hope they will be rewarded with substantial gains in the direction of empire markets," the Premier said.

Taking the view that his most important mission was stimulation of trade for the province and consequent employment for citizens, the Premier spent much of his time in trying to get more favorable market conditions for B.C. products of all kinds, particularly in agriculture, he reported.

"In fighting for lumber markets British Columbia has met many obstacles, but never have her representatives had better opportunity of getting first-hand information."

Halifax Invites Stella Walsh

Halifax, Aug. 12.—Believing Alleen Meagher, youthful Halifax sprinter, should have been allowed to run at the Olympic Games at Los Angeles, the Nova Scotia Exhibition Commission to-day decided to invite Stella Walsh of Poland and Hilda Strike of Montreal to attend this year's provincial fair and race against Miss Meagher in a track programme planned as one of the feature events.

Stella Walsh won the women's 100 metres at the Olympic Games a few days ago and Hilda Strike was second.

CAMERON AND TAYLOR WIN

Advance to Final of Canadian Amateur Golf Championship at Toronto

Former Defeats Ross Somerville 3 and 2; Taylor Whips Will Gunn 11 and 10

Lambton Golf Club, Aug. 12. Jack Cameron, Toronto veteran, ended the rule of C. R. "Sandy" Somerville in Canadian amateur golf here to-day when he defeated the defending champion, 3 and 2 in the thirty-six-hole semi-finals. In the other half of the semis young Gordon Taylor, Montreal, vanquished Will-Gunn Jr., Walsingham, Pa., last United States player in the tourney, 11 to 10. Cameron and Taylor meet in the thirty-six final to-morrow.

After being 4 down this morning Somerville apured to square the match at the end of the first eighteen. After lunch, however, he was unable to combat the great golf played by Cameron.

Against the par busting display of broad-shouldered Taylor, the younger brother of Watts Gunn, a hard man on par until he retired from competition, had no chance to-day. Taylor was 8 up at the end of the first round.

New Wheat Rules Soon in France

Paris, Aug. 12.—A study of the wheat situation in France occupied the attention of the cabinet to-day. Steps will be taken to protect agricultural interests in the present speculation.

Other matters reported by Premier Herriot to the cabinet were President Hoover's speech of acceptance and the recent address on Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of State.

FRUIT EXPERT VISITS HERE

C. G. Savage of New South Wales Arrives to Make Survey of Canada and U.S.

"I am here to investigate the methods of processing fruit in Canada and later propose to visit California to inspect the citrus industry, with a view to determining the possibilities of marketing our own citrus fruits on this side of the Pacific," said C. G. Savage, horticultural superintendent for the Department of Agriculture in New South Wales, who reached Victoria early to-day by the liner Niagara from Sydney.

Mr. Savage wants to make a study of Canadian needs in the hope of exporting Australian oranges and lemons here.

He brought with him on the Niagara four carloads of oranges and lemons grown in New South Wales which he hopes to distribute in Canada and the United States. He believes there is a market in this Dominion for the citrus fruits grown in Australasia and he sees no reason why the trade should not be developed to benefit both Canada and Australia. He is anxious to visit California and compare the methods of raising citrus fruits there with similar cultivation in New South Wales.

Former Olympics Leader Preaches

Vancouver, Aug. 12.—Rev. Eric Liddell, former holder of the 400-metre championship, which he won at the Olympic Games in Paris in 1924, arrived in Vancouver to-day en route from Scotland to Tientsin to continue missionary work, with which he has been associated for the last six years. He will sail aboard the liner Empress of Asia Saturday.

In 1924 Mr. Liddell was chosen to represent Great Britain at that year's Olympic Games in the 100-metre event, but finding it was scheduled to be run on Sunday, refused to appear. He concentrated on the 400-metre race, which he captured with a new world record. He first became noted in sport as a Scottish international rugby player and later won the triple championship of Great Britain in the 100, 220 and 440 yards.

Movie-Radio Committee Of Imperial Conference Starts Survey Of Fields

General Discussion of Empire Talks For Theatres of Commonwealth Launched at Session To-day

Much Interest In This Country

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Aug. 12.—One of the Imperial Conference sub-committees of peculiar interest to Canada, that on films and radio, held its first meeting this morning. The meeting, it is understood, merely cleared the decks. Those countries which were active in pressing for the establishment of the sub-committee, laid their views before the body.

The sub-committee is expected to discuss the question of a quota for empire films. In Canada this is said by many to be of great importance. It is argued in certain circles that the films are an important influence in national life, and that the United States film industry works considerable hardship against British pictures. Should a quota be adopted, the result would be that a greater percentage of United Kingdom pictures would be shown in Canada.

Assolant formerly was a French army pilot and more recently a commercial airline pilot.

British and Canadian Delegations at Ottawa Discuss Outstanding Points of General Trade Agreement

Draft Pact Is Sent to India

By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

Ottawa, Aug. 12.—A morning of conversations between delegations brought final agreement at the Empire Conference one stage nearer.

For the British, particularly, it was a morning of activity. They held a session of their "cabinet." They discussed outstanding points with the Canadian delegation. They talked things over, both with the South Africans and Newfoundlanders. The British delegates met the Australians and South Africans this afternoon.

A draft British agreement with India is understood to have already gone forward to Delhi for approval of the Indian government.

MEAT TRADE

A few points still remain for settlement between Great Britain, South Africa and Australia. A South African suggestion to meet the differences between the British and South Africans seems likely to prove acceptable to the British. The Anglo-Australian difference, it is understood, still turns on the method of limiting foreign meats on the British market.

Heads of delegations met this afternoon and considered the first of the committee reports. This was the report of the monetary committee. Meetings of heads of delegations—a practice adopted at the last Imperial Conference—are utilized as a means of cutting short the work of the full conference. Heads meet, discuss the reports and recommend. Adoption of their recommendations by the full conference will be a formality.

The committee on economic co-operation continued this afternoon its discussion of the future of the empire marketing board and the creation of some form of permanent consultative machinery for the commonwealth.

Ottawa, Aug. 12.—Canada pushed forward her Imperial Conference discussions this morning. With Premier Bennett presiding, a sub-committee of the cabinet gave three and one-half hours' intensive study to proposed empire trade agreements.

By J. F. Sanderson, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Aug. 12.—With most of their difficulties behind them, delegates to the Imperial Conference to-day breathed an air of optimism and confidence as they entered the final drive toward successful empire trade arrangements.

Great Britain and Canada may be expected to announce a commercial pact within two or three days. Similar agreements between Great Britain and the other dominions are nearing finality. Thursday next has been fixed tentatively for the closing plenary session when the various agreements will be open to public inspection.

SAYS WRITER KILLS HIMSELF

Criminologist Testifies About H. Clarke's Death at Miami Trial

Miami, Fla., Aug. 12.—Using the bullet-pierced skull of Haden Clarke and the pistol that ended his life to illustrate his testimony Arthur H. Hamilton, criminologist of Auburn, N.Y., told a jury here to-day he was "absolutely convinced" Clarke had committed suicide.

"There is not a scintilla of evidence here to show Clarke was murdered," Hamilton testified as a defence witness in the trial of Captain W. N. Lancaster, British aviator, charged with murdering the writer.

Clarke was shot to death at the home of Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix whose affections he had succeeded in winning.

"Are you sure Clarke was not murdered?" Defence Counsel J. M. Carson, asked Hamilton.

"I am absolutely sure," Hamilton repeated. "There is every indication of suicide and nothing in the world to give the slightest indication of homicide."

Suicide was indicated in cases where a pistol was held close to the head in contact, he said.

WENT AS VOLUNTEER Hamilton testified he had entered the trial at his own suggestion after reading newspaper reports of the trial.

Hamilton said microscopic examination of the pistol showed blood and tissue on the front sight, indicating it had been pressed firmly against Clarke when he was shot.

Taking the pistol in his hands, Hamilton stepped down before the jury to describe the characteristics of the bullet holes.

"The skull shows five radial fractures—made not by the bullet, but by exploding gases that followed the bullet," Hamilton testified.

"That, the ballooning of the flesh around the wound and the discoloration of the skull bones, shows conclusively the pistol was held firmly against the head when the bullet was fired."

He held the death pistol against his head and snapped the trigger to demonstrate his point. He was showing the position in which the bullet entered Clarke's head.

From Vancouver Mr. Savage intends to go east to Toronto and Montreal and then down to New York and Chicago before crossing to California where he will spend some weeks. He will return here to call for his home in Australia by the Niagara October 12.

He, along with everyone else in Australia, is greatly interested in the outcome of the Imperial Conference at Ottawa. He believes the fruit export trade of his Dominion may be considerably increased by it. But he will steer clear of Ottawa. Australia is well represented there and the delegation will do everything possible for the success of the conference and the good of Australia, he believes.

Returning to British Columbia early in October, Mr. Savage hopes to consult members of the local government about the fruit trade and ascertain if there is anything to be developed in this province.

Alberta Farmers Welcome Rainfall

Edmonton, Aug. 12.—Practically every point in western and central Alberta was swept by drenching rain yesterday afternoon and evening in a weather change that brought a wind of cyclonic proportions to Saskatchewan.

Reports from railways, elevator operators, farmers and others this morning indicated that heavy rains, of from one to six hours duration, had brought welcome relief to farms that had been parched through a long period of hot, dry weather throughout northern and central Alberta.

The Senior Golfers Empire Preferences On Metals Planned

Though the ages of the players in the Seniors' Pacific Northwest Golf Tour-nament range between three and four years, they are remarkably young men. Often they start out on a second "friendly" round after their scheduled tournament round is completed.

There are some really fine chorists among them. The clubhouse at times rings with melody, and the proverbial quietness needed for golf is often lacking when the putting competition is in progress.

Jim Sturatt, bell-toned Scotch Scot-lander, most often fills the lead, and solo parts.

There are other singers. R. E. Sewell, Tacoma, has a theme song all his own. Yesterday the feature was Mr. Zan's rendition of "On the Road to Man-dalay," the choruses of which were taken with gusto by the assemblage.

Here are some figures: 73, 74, 74, 74, 74, 74, 73, 73, 73, 73, 73, 73. No they are not the first fourteen qualifying scores in a seniors' tournament.

They belong, respectively and respec-tively, to the following: Judge C. S. Battle, Vancouver; Philip Buchner, Portland; Gibson, Victoria; Judge J. L. Sharp-stein, Walla Walla; A. R. Porter, Port-land; E. J. Roberts, Spokane; J. R. Waghorn, Vancouver; Charles H. Bebb, Seattle; Charles F. Todd, Victoria; E. C. Blanchard, Tacoma, and Dr. J. E. Weeks, Portland.

The figures represent the ages of these men, all of whom entered the present Seniors' tournament at Col-wood.

Though Dr. Weeks has the honor of being the oldest playing member of the association, there will be present at the United Club dinner-to-night the oldest member of the association, Charles Hyde, Tacoma, who was eighty-six last birthday. Mr. Hyde has played in many of the ten tournaments and has seldom missed a dinner. R. W. Gibson, another of the above fourteen, is contesting a final to-day.

There are fourteen cities and towns represented at the tournament this year, ten of which are across the line. They are Seattle, which has the largest entry; Portland, Tacoma, Spokane, Bellingham, Pendleton, Law-son, Port Angeles, and probably Vancouver, New Westminster and Kam-loope.

Capt. W. E. Tapley, one of Victoria's old reliable, is an energetic man. This week, in slightly over twenty-four hours, he went from golf course to rifle range, to fishing grounds. He won the rifle meet, and probably caught a salmon. He might have shot a birdie, too.

B. S. Heisterman, Victoria, covered a lot of ground in his triumphant progress through the quarter-finals and semi-finals. Both his matches went to the twenty-first. On the other hand, Joe Wilson, ex-champion, only required ten holes to settle his yesterday against Judge C. S. Battle, Vancouver.

Mr. Wilson won nine out of ten holes and handed the sixth, H. R. Beasley, also Victoria, was high in the qualifying round Monday, but that did not stop him from reaching his final night yesterday.

Capt. J. V. Perks, L. D. Rines, Scott Whiting, A. V. Macan, Alex. Marling and others are some of the men behind the scenes. It would be surprising how creaky the wheels would be.

Capt. W. Langley, Seattle, nearly caged an eagle two on the long seven-teenth in his first flight international semi-final against T. O. Goward. He got the birdie to square the match, but missed a short putt on the home hole to lose.

There are fifty eligible veteran golf-ers at the tournament. The membership in the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association, but at present the list is nearly com-plete, and some of the fifty will have to wait a while before they, too, can march up and down Victoria fairways with over 100 of their fellows in one of the most popular, most fraternal golf meets in the world.

Plans For Reception Of Governor-General

The guards of honor will be in position by 3:50 p.m. on the north side of Belleville Street, facing the Parliament Buildings. The Royal Canadian Navy Band and the Canadian Scottish Regi-mental band will be drawn up on the south side of Belleville Street.

Under arrangements to be made by Chief of Police Thomas Heatley, of Victoria, in conjunction with Inspect-ors T. W. S. Parsons of the Provincial Police, Belleville Street, between Gov-ernment and Menzies Streets, and the driveway in front of the Parliament Buildings will be closed to traffic from 3:40 p.m. and remain closed until the guards of honor and other parading detachments have moved off.

On the appearance of His Excellency a naval bugler will sound the "alert." Immediately after the last note of the bugle the guards of honor will give the royal salute. Standards and colors will be lowered and the band of the Canadian Scottish Regiment will play the first six bars of the National Anthem.

After this salute the guards of honor will "order arms," the colors remain-ing at the "carry." During the in-spection the guards will be at the "order."

On conclusion of the inspections and on His Excellency preparing to leave, the bugler of the naval guard will sound the "alert." Immediately after the last note of the bugle the guards of honor will again salute.

On the departure of His Excellency for Government House the naval guard of honor will lead off, preceded by its own band, returning by the driveway in front of the Parlia-ment Buildings. Allowing for an inter-val of forty yards, the Canadian Scottish guard of honor will follow, pre-ceded by its band. Veterans and Boy Scouts parading for the occasion will follow in sequence.

Mr. Small said his craft was valued at about $3,000. She was registered with the Royal Victoria Yacht Club and moored in Cadboro Bay. She was powered with a Buffalo gasoline engine of forty horsepower and is registered at 17.07 gross tons.

Longview, Wash., Aug. 12.—Two persons were killed outright, a third was fatally injured and a fourth may die as the result of a collision on the Pacific Highway near Castle Rock car-tod between a stage bus and a passenger car.

Those who lost their lives were: R. M. (Mack) Higgins, age about thirty-five, Portland, Ore.; Jane Abraham, fifteen, Seattle, a niece of Higgins, and Mrs. June Noble, address unknown.

Mrs. Haze Harrington of Portland had her back broken and her son, Bert, aged twelve, had a leg broken. All were passengers in Higgins' car.

Higgins and his niece were instantly killed. Mrs. Noble died in a Long-view hospital shortly after the ac-cident.

But the plans were very vague so far, Capt. von Gronau said, and he was most interested in having some flights in western and central Alberta was swept by drenching rain yesterday afternoon and evening in a weather change that brought a wind of cyclonic proportions to Saskatchewan.

Reports from railways, elevator op-erators, farmers and others this morn-ing indicated that heavy rains, of from one to six hours duration, had brought welcome relief to farms that had been parched through a long period of hot, dry weather throughout northern and central Alberta.

Ottawa Conference Com-mittee Recommends United Kingdom Preference of Four Cents a Pound on Copper

Ottawa, Aug. 12.—A preference in the United Kingdom of four cents a pound on copper from Empire sources, and preference for other metals, notably lead, zinc and asbestos, are understood to be the recommendations of the Imperial Economic Conference sub-committee on base metals.

The sub-committee practically con-cluded its labors yesterday. It was a high official's opinion that the recommendations, if adopted, should prove immensely beneficial to Canada.

A preference of four cents a pound on copper in the United Kingdom, greatest importer of raw metals, would offset to a large degree any prejudice to the Canadian producers arising from the recent application in the United States of a four cents per pound tariff on Canadian copper.

There are some twenty items on the list studied by the committee, but only those mentioned above were the ones calling for the greatest attention.

Col. J. P. Fell Wins Seniors' Golf Title

second shot was a good one just short of the bunker, on the right of the green. Fell was well out, but his mangle nibble third shot faded away to the left coming to rest near the edge of the green. His opponent made a weak chip shot and was still short of the green. However, he laid his fourth two inches from the cup, nearly holding it, and since cymies were not there yet, Fell told the caddy to take the ball away. The Vancouverite then stepped up to the ball with delibera-tion and held it from near the edge for a par four and victory.

FELL OFF GAME Fell nearly lost the match after being in what seemed an impregnable position. Several weak "stab" chip shots and a closing hole, however, dropped strokes in spite of his powerful long game, and even his drives developed dangerous slices. Green, on the other hand, commenced approaching and putting with dead accuracy.

Three down at the end of the thirteenth, he won the fourteenth, fifteenth, sixteenth and eighteenth, though he lost the nineteenth four to his opponent's five, through missing a four-footer, and went down 2 down. Fell started off in championship style, winning the first hole, 4 and 5, 4 and 5, 3, to his opponent's 6, 5 and 4. The fifth was halved in five and Green retained a hole by winning the sixth with a 4 to a 5. But Fell regressed his lead of four on the eighth, with a 4 to a 6 after the seventh was halved in 4. The ninth was also halved in 4. Fell was 4 up at the turn and half the gallery unwisely decided not to follow the match any further.

FELL WAS OUT IN 39 Green won the tenth with a 5 to Fell's 6, the eleventh was halved in 4 and Green reduced his opponent's lead to two on the twelfth by winning with a 4 to 6. He misjudged a shot on the thirteenth, however, dropping a ball in the water and lost to his opponent's five 4.

Both players were in the trees to the left on their drive off the fourteenth. Green was well out in the middle on his second, while Fell shot far up the rough. Green played a beautiful spoon third to within twenty feet of the pin and Fell stubbed his approach and was still off the green. Green chipped well and later put his third spoon shot just off the green. Meanwhile, Fell played a long luck second shot which sent over one bunker and landed short of another. Fell was weakly on in 3, Green overran the hole on his fourth, Fell made sure of a 5 and Green missed a four-footer to go 2 down and 2 to play.

Fell was far over to the right off the seventeenth tee while Green was right down the center. Fell played a wood shot from the rough and the second did practically the same bunker-missing stunt as on the previous hole. Green approached to within two feet while Fell's chip was weak and he had to be satisfied with a 5. Green sunk his putt for a 4.

SQUARES MATCH Both players had good drives on the eighteenth, Fell being thirty yards ahead. Green missed a weak bunker and played a long approach to within ten feet of the pin. Fell was well up in two, was again weak on his chip shot and was no better than 5. Green then sunk his putt and the players went to the nineteenth.

VICTORIANS WIN It was a good day for Canadian and Victoria golfers, since local players won the Class A, B and D championships and the first and second flights, and Vancouverites won the grand champion-ship and third flight. Class C went to a Seattle player, A. S. Dickin-son, the only United States player to win a final.

After being one down at the ninth, A. T. Goward, Victoria, emerged victorious against C. H. Harold, Seattle, tournament medalist, 1 up. R. W. Gibson won Class A honors for players over seventy by downing H. S. Griggs, Tacoma, 5 and 4.

J. H. Wilson, Victoria, triumphed in Class B against Judge S. A. Lempina, 3 and 2, though the jurist put up a gallant fight and was 1 up at the ninth. A. Dickinson, Seattle, secured Class C honors by downing H. S. Griggs, Tacoma, 1 up. T. S. McPherson, Victoria, downed his town-mate, B. S. Heisterman, 2 and 1, in Class D.

Second flight honors went to G. B. Naden, Victoria, who beat H. J. Fetter, Seattle, 2 up, while the third flight was secured by A. W. Blake, Vancouver, in a 1 up victory over H. E. Beasley, Victoria.

Bandit Robs Street Worker

Vancouver, Aug. 12.—J. McDonald, driver of a city street-flusher, was held up and robbed by an armed man at Fourth Avenue and Fir Street at 2:35 this morning.

According to police reports, McDona-ld was filling the flusher at a hydrant when a man asked him for a match. The driver reached into his pocket for one, and the stranger drew a gun and ordered him to hold up his hands. He then took $10 from his pockets.

Alberta Farmers Welcome Rainfall

Edmonton, Aug. 12.—Practically every point in western and central Alberta was swept by drenching rain yesterday afternoon and evening in a weather change that brought a wind of cyclonic proportions to Saskatchewan.

Reports from railways, elevator op-erators, farmers and others this morn-ing indicated that heavy rains, of from one to six hours duration, had brought welcome relief to farms that had been parched through a long period of hot, dry weather throughout northern and central Alberta.

him back to the yacht club and tow-ing the dinghy. The yawl Uwhina of Seattle, owned by W. Hutchinson, which was just leaving Cadboro Bay, also went to the aid of the burning craft, along with several small rowboats and outboards from the shore. In thirty minutes the J. C. Bruce had burned to the water's edge and it was ex-pected she would sink at any moment. She will not be salvaged.

Mr. Small said his craft was valued at about $3,000. She was registered with the Royal Victoria Yacht Club and moored in Cadboro Bay. She was powered with a Buffalo gasoline engine of forty horsepower and is registered at 17.07 gross tons.

Longview, Wash., Aug. 12.—Two persons were killed outright, a third was fatally injured and a fourth may die as the result of a collision on the Pacific Highway near Castle Rock car-tod between a stage bus and a passenger car.

Those who lost their lives were: R. M. (Mack) Higgins, age about thirty-five, Portland, Ore.; Jane Abraham, fifteen, Seattle, a niece of Higgins, and Mrs. June Noble, address unknown.

Mrs. Haze Harrington of Portland had her back broken and her son, Bert, aged twelve, had a leg broken. All were passengers in Higgins' car.

Higgins and his niece were instantly killed. Mrs. Noble died in a Long-view hospital shortly after the ac-cident.

But the plans were very vague so far, Capt. von Gronau said, and he was most interested in having some flights in western and central Alberta was swept by drenching rain yesterday afternoon and evening in a weather change that brought a wind of cyclonic proportions to Saskatchewan.

Ottawa Conference Com-mittee Recommends United Kingdom Preference of Four Cents a Pound on Copper

Ottawa, Aug. 12.—A preference in the United Kingdom of four cents a pound on copper from Empire sources, and preference for other metals, notably lead, zinc and asbestos, are understood to be the recommendations of the Imperial Economic Conference sub-committee on base metals.

The sub-committee practically con-cluded its labors yesterday. It was a high official's opinion that the recommendations, if adopted, should prove immensely beneficial to Canada.

A preference of four cents a pound on copper in the United Kingdom, greatest importer of raw metals, would offset to a large degree any prejudice to the Canadian producers arising from the recent application in the United States of a four cents per pound tariff on Canadian copper.

There are some twenty items on the list studied by the committee, but only those mentioned above were the ones calling for the greatest attention.

second shot was a good one just short of the bunker, on the right of the green. Fell was well out, but his mangle nibble third shot faded away to the left coming to rest near the edge of the green. His opponent made a weak chip shot and was still short of the green. However, he laid his fourth two inches from the cup, nearly holding it, and since cymies were not there yet, Fell told the caddy to take the ball away. The Vancouverite then stepped up to the ball with delibera-tion and held it from near the edge for a par four and victory.

FELL OFF GAME Fell nearly lost the match after being in what seemed an impregnable position. Several weak "stab" chip shots and a closing hole, however, dropped strokes in spite of his powerful long game, and even his drives developed dangerous slices. Green, on the other hand, commenced approaching and putting with dead accuracy.

Three down at the end of the thirteenth, he won the fourteenth, fifteenth, sixteenth and eighteenth, though he lost the nineteenth four to his opponent's five, through missing a four-footer, and went down 2 down. Fell started off in championship style, winning the first hole, 4 and 5, 4 and 5, 3, to his opponent's 6, 5 and 4. The fifth was halved in five and Green retained a hole by winning the sixth with a 4 to a 5. But Fell regressed his lead of four on the eighth, with a 4 to a 6 after the seventh was halved in 4. The ninth was also halved in 4. Fell was 4 up at the turn and half the gallery unwisely decided not to follow the match any further.

FELL WAS OUT IN 39 Green won the tenth with a 5 to Fell's 6, the eleventh was halved in 4 and Green reduced his opponent's lead to two on the twelfth by winning with a 4 to 6. He misjudged a shot on the thirteenth, however, dropping a ball in the water and lost to his opponent's five 4.

Both players were in the trees to the left on their drive off the fourteenth. Green was well out in the middle on his second, while Fell shot far up the rough. Green played a beautiful spoon third to within twenty feet of the pin and Fell stubbed his approach and was still off the green. Green chipped well and later put his third spoon shot just off the green. Meanwhile, Fell played a long luck second shot which sent over one bunker and landed short of another. Fell was weakly on in 3, Green overran the hole on his fourth, Fell made sure of a 5 and Green missed a four-footer to go 2 down and 2 to play.

Fell was far over to the right off the seventeenth tee while Green was right down the center. Fell played a wood shot from the rough and the second did practically the same bunker-missing stunt as on the previous hole. Green approached to within two feet while Fell's chip was weak and he had to be satisfied with a 5. Green sunk his putt for a 4.

SQUARES MATCH Both players had good drives on the eighteenth, Fell being thirty yards ahead. Green missed a weak bunker and played a long approach to within ten feet of the pin. Fell was well up in two, was again weak on his chip shot and was no better than 5. Green then sunk his putt and the players went to the nineteenth.

VICTORIANS WIN It was a good day for Canadian and Victoria golfers, since local players won the Class A, B and D championships and the first and second flights, and Vancouverites won the grand champion-ship and third flight. Class C went to a Seattle player, A. S. Dickin-son, the only United States player to win a final.

After being one down at the ninth, A. T. Goward, Victoria, emerged victorious against C. H. Harold, Seattle, tournament medalist, 1 up. R. W. Gibson won Class A honors for players over seventy by downing H. S. Griggs, Tacoma, 5 and 4.

J. H. Wilson, Victoria, triumphed in Class B against Judge S. A. Lempina, 3 and 2, though the jurist put up a gallant fight and was 1 up at the ninth. A. Dickinson, Seattle, secured Class C honors by downing H. S. Griggs, Tacoma, 1 up. T. S. McPherson, Victoria, downed his town-mate, B. S. Heisterman, 2 and 1, in Class D.

Second flight honors went to G. B. Naden, Victoria, who beat H. J. Fetter, Seattle, 2 up, while the third flight was secured by A. W. Blake, Vancouver, in a 1 up victory over H. E. Beasley, Victoria.

New Organization Formed in Ireland

Associated Press
Dublin, Irish Free State, Aug. 12.—Members of the Irish Republican army and the National army decided today to form a new organization, to be called the Free State Army.

President William T. Cosgrave, was chosen president. He said the association would support the government in maintaining law and order and oppose Communism "or any disguised form thereof."

The new organization caused alarm in some quarters, where it was considered opposed to the present republican army.

Mexico produces more silver than any other country in the world, exporting almost all of its output.

HOOVER STATES LIQUOR VIEWS

Would Allow States to Decide Courses, But Declares
Against Saloons

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON
Associated Press Correspondent

Washington, Aug. 12.—A presidential call for prohibition reform and a promise to beat down the economic "hurricane" led Republicans into the 1932 United States election campaign.

An astonished and tensely expectant audience of Republican leaders in Constitution Hall here heard Mr. Hoover yesterday evening in his speech of formal acceptance of renomination go far beyond his party platform and demand a new order of liquor control.

"I cannot consent to the continuance of this regime," said the President solemnly.

There was applause. But the Republican hosts who had frequently interrupted Mr. Hoover's challenges to Democrats on their tariff and House of Representatives records seemed stunned. It was not the same applause.

DECISIONS BY STATES

Mr. Hoover proposed as a "common ground" for "all reasonable people" that:

"Each state shall be given the right to deal with the problem as it may determine, but subject to absolute guarantees in the constitution of the United States to protect each state from interference and invasion by its neighbors, and that in no part of the United States shall there be a return of the saloon system with its inevitable political and social corruption and its organized interference with other states."

He said the Democratic plan for outright repeal meant a return of the saloon.

Obviously pointing at Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, he demanded Democratic specifications on tariff reform.

Mr. Hoover asked renomination on his record.

NO REVOLUTION WANTED

Outlining what had been done to counteract economic ills in the United States, Mr. Hoover said all of it was in accord with "American principles and ideals." He cited equality, opportunity and individual responsibility.

"This is not an individualism which permits men to run riot in selfishness or to override equality of opportunity for others. It permits no violation of ordered liberty. In the race after the false gods of materialism men and groups have forgotten their country."

He declared solution of the nation's problems was not to be found in "unplanned experimentation or by revolution," but must come through "organic development of our national life under these ideals."

WAR DEBTS

Reiterating opposition to cancellation of war debts, Mr. Hoover at the same time expressed assurance that this country would consider adjustments "if for any particular annual payment we were offered some other tangible form of compensation, such as the expansion of markets for American agriculture and labor."

Outlining his domestic policies, one after another he listed his favor for "sound currency," protective tariff, immigration restrictions, revision of railway laws, federal regulation of interstate power, conservation of national resources, tax and making reform, balanced budget, federal economy, the St. Lawrence seaway and United States adherence to the World Court with reservations.

OPPOSES AGGRESSION

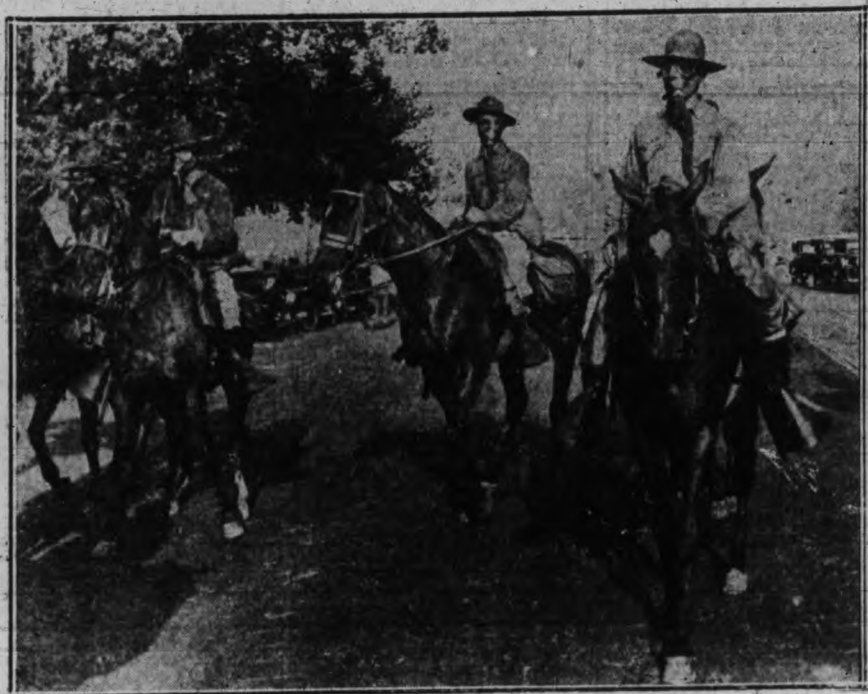

In reference to foreign affairs, but without mentioning the situation between Japan and China last winter or the current Chaco dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay, he told of having projected into international diplomacy the new doctrine "that we do not and never will recognize title to possession or territory gained in violation of the peace facts."

Referring to the St. Lawrence seaway plans, the treaty on which was signed by his government and Canada recently, Mr. Hoover said that as soon as the pact was ratified work would be undertaken which would give employment to many men.

BUS SERVICE DISCUSSION

Vancouver, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press).—The city of Vancouver will renew its application before the Legislature at its next session for a charter amendment giving the council power to operate a municipal bus service or give a franchise to a private transportation company. It is reported at the City Hall. The power to compete, or permit competition, with the B.C. Electric Railway was refused last year by the government.

Marketing Board For Wheat Is Urged

Prairie Governments to Be Represented at Conference in Calgary Next Monday

Canadian Press

Edmonton, Aug. 12.—Wheat marketing is likely to be discussed at a conference of representatives of the governments of Saskatchewan and Alberta in Calgary on Monday. It is not known whether Manitoba will be represented.

It was stated by Premier Brownlee today that he had informed the Saskatchewan Government he could be in Calgary during the week-end for the meeting, which probably would be held Monday.

When asked about the suggestions of a "pegged" price for wheat, the Premier said he had no comment to make.

One proposal to come before the Calgary conference will be brought in by pool officials, who are strongly urging the setting up of a national wheat marketing board as an emergency measure for this fall.

Pool executives met earlier this week at Winnipeg and decided on the market board proposal for handling the entire prairie crop this fall.

PEGGED PRICES

Regina, Aug. 12.—Under a new scheme it is proposed the Saskatchewan Government accept all grain at "pegged" prices in payment of relief debts of all farms.

Premier J. T. McArthur stated at a banquet of the Associated Secretaries of Rural Municipalities yesterday evening that final details of the plan were being worked out by the provincial government and the official announcement would be made almost at once.

The plan augments the announcement made by the Premier Wednesday that the government was prepared to accept payment for feed grain on the basis of bushels for bushel, regardless of price. He said he hoped by such means the government of Saskatchewan would be able to set an example in the solution of the debt problem.

CENSORSHIP DANGER SEEN

U.S. President Warned of Proposal For Radio Conference at Madrid

New York, Aug. 12.—Viewing the possibility of a subtle peacetime censorship of foreign news as a likely subject before the forthcoming International Radio-Telegraph Conference at Madrid, Marlen E. Pew in the current issue of Editor and Publisher urges President Hoover to add "authorizing government to limit, prohibit or withhold telegrams dangerous to the security of the state, contrary to the law or its public order of morality."

Another plan before the conference, Mr. Pew says, "is to increase radio and telegraph rates, further to limit press operations, and embarrass the flow of information."

Thomas Wins Bridge Games

Ottawa, Aug. 11.—In his own unconventional way, "Jim" Thomas, British Secretary of State for the Dominions, has settled the Irish land annuities. It is not a way which the red-tape pundits of Whitehall can be expected to approve. President de Valera will naturally turn it down, but Sean Lemass, Free State Minister of Industry and Commerce, ruefully admits it.

WIND LASHES ALBERTA TOWN

Violent Storm Leaves Losses
of $5,000 at Fort Saskatchewan

Fort Saskatchewan, Alta., Aug. 12.—A cyclone hit here yesterday evening, blowing a one-way garage, threw it across a street and deposited the remains in a front yard; smashed many windows, tore down chimneys and finally plunged the entire eastern half of the town into darkness as telephone and electric light poles crashed to the ground.

It is estimated the "big wind" passed through the town in about fifteen minutes and that the damage in the town totals close to $5,000.

Wheat fields adjoining the town and directly in the path of the cyclone suffered heavy damage.

Weather conditions throughout Edmonton district were unsettled, heavy rainfall giving the district a much-needed drenching.

CROP FIGURES ARE RELEASED

Wheat Carry-over Is Lower
This Year Than in 1931;
Final Revision in Jan., 1933

Ottawa, Aug. 12.—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday the carryover of wheat at the end of the crop year, July 31, was 130,948,901 bushels, compared with 134,078,983 bushels last year.

The total stocks of Canadian wheat in Canada at July 31 placed at 130,948,901 bushels are slightly lower than the record carryover of July 31, 1931, 134,078,983 bushels. Canadian wheat in elevators and afloat in the United States amounted to 4,708,828 bushels, while 1,181,427 bushels of Canadian wheat were afloat destined for United States ports. The comparable figures for these items at July 31, 1931, were 5,338,334 and 1,259,978 bushels respectively.

The total amount of Canadian wheat in the United States at July 31, 1932, was 136,837,156 bushels, compared with 140,877,273 bushels at July 31, 1931.

The final revision of the 1931 wheat crop estimates is not possible until January, 1933, when the final figures for deliveries and platform loadings are made available by the board of grain commissioners and when the final acreage returns for 1931 are released by the census branch of this bureau. At the present time, however, a preliminary analysis of the distribution of the 1931 wheat crop may be interesting.

The carryover of wheat in Canada at July 31, 1931, was placed at 134,078,983 bushels and additional supplies were provided by the 1931 crop, estimated last January at 304,144,000 bushels. Adding the further small amount of 110,327 bushels imported during the period August, 1931-July, 1932, the total for distribution amounts to 438,439,290 bushels.

The 1931 wheat crop of the prairie provinces was estimated last January at 284,000,000 bushels. To this must be added the carryover on farms at July 31, 1931, of 17,804,000 bushels, making a total of 301,804,000 bushels for disposition. The unreserved total, markings in the period from August 1, 1931, to July 29, 1932, amounted to 265,098,385 bushels. In addition, allowance must be made for 2,477,000 bushels of unmerchantable grain, 1,680,000 bushels (approximately) as custom millings, 29,931,000 bushels for seed, 23,079,000 bushels as feed, and 2,829,000 bushels as carryover on farms at July 31, 1932. The total of these items is 328,064,385 bushels, an under-estimate of 26,365,385 bushels. This figure will probably be reduced when final figures are available. The final revision is made in January, 1933.

Weather conditions are recorded by movements of birds, animals and insects as faithfully as the modern scientific instruments.

PLAN EXTENDED MARKET BOARD

Empire Conferees Consider
Dominion Fields For Body
Operating in Britain

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Aug. 12.—How far the Imperial Conference has traveled along the road to concrete success in the realization of the dream of a self-contained empire economic unit, is indicated by the striking fact that both the future of the empire marketing board and the extension of its functions to cope with the impending changed conditions are now being actively canvassed by a representative committee.

In the words of a United Kingdom authority, "Our Parliament has already authorized preferential tariffs and it is evident these are to be greatly extended by the series of agreements now near completion."

What of the future of the empire marketing board?

CONTRIBUTION BY DOMINIONS
That board was established by the United Kingdom Government (Labor) in 1923 as an offset to its abandonment of the proposed inter-empire preference system, and it was given ample financial support. But its activities, though paid for entirely by the British Government, were confined to promoting the sale in Great Britain of overseas products. Now it is likely its scope will be extended to the promotion of the sale of United Kingdom goods throughout the empire.

Further lies the proposal to rejoin the Republic army, recalled by the Free State government. Free State delegates at the Imperial Conference at Ottawa denied such a movement was contemplated.

Boyle explained it all to-day. He said an Irishman he had known for some time had given him nearly $50 in cash, a new trench coat, two heavy pistols and a quantity of ammunition, and started out with him from St. John en route to join comrades in New York. Boyle read the Free State delegates' denial in newspapers and broached the subject to his companion.

The Irishman shrugged and said, "the game's up."

"Boyle is thinking of going to Ottawa to consult the Free State officials on the matter."

U.S. SEEKS BIG RUSSIAN TRADE

New York, Aug. 12.—A concerted programme to restore Russian-United States trade to its former levels—more than $100,000,000 a year—had advanced to a point to-day where it was evident the largest remaining problem to be solved was that of Russia's ability to furnish suitable guarantees for credit.

"BLACK MAGIC" TO BRING SENTENCES

Associated Press
Helsingfors, Finland, Aug. 12.—Three men and three women were arrested today on a charge of mutilating bodies they had stolen from graves in Helsingfors cemeteries in the practice of "black magic."

Al pleaded guilty when they were arraigned in police court, explaining they had committed their outrages "for occult reasons."

About forty such robberies and mutilations have been reported in the last two years.

Looks For Fruit Trade Expansion

Canadian Press
Vernon, B.C., Aug. 12.—A message from E. J. Chambers, president of the Associated Growers, who is in Ottawa for the Imperial Economic Conference, indicates that if there is not a split on other matters, there will be agreement on duties on fruits which ought to be satisfactory to the growers in this province.

RECRUITING STORY GROWS FROM HOAX

Moncton, N.B., Aug. 12.—Vincent Boyle says he was the victim of a hoax. The young Irishman earlier in the week announced he was leaving for New York to join a band of 700 Irishmen returning to the old sod to rejoin the Republican army, recalled by the Free State government. Free State delegates at the Imperial Conference at Ottawa denied such a movement was contemplated.

Boyle explained it all to-day. He said an Irishman he had known for some time had given him nearly $50 in cash, a new trench coat, two heavy pistols and a quantity of ammunition, and started out with him from St. John en route to join comrades in New York. Boyle read the Free State delegates' denial in newspapers and broached the subject to his companion.

Painting Slashed
By Jobless Man
Paris, Aug. 12.—Pierre Guillard, thirty-one, an engineer who recently lost his job, with a lighting company, slashed three times with a knife yesterday the famous painting, "The Arcturus," by Millet, which hangs in the Louvre.

He did it, he said, to call attention to his plight. Officials said restoration of the canvas would be comparatively easy since there were only three cuts.

The Ministry of Education and Fine Arts will bring suit against Guillard.

POLICING THE PROVINCES

A SHORT TIME AGO ALBERTA, FOR the sake of economy, made an arrangement with the Dominion government for policing the province by the federal Mounted Police, who were substituted for the provincial police. The change was acclaimed by some imaginative writers as a reversion to the romantic days when the Royal Northwest Mounted Police were building up a world-wide reputation on the spacious western plains. Forgotten, apparently, was the fact that a little more than twenty-five years ago, Alberta ceased to be one of the north-west territories administered mainly from Ottawa, and became a full-fledged province, with provincial responsibilities that can not be properly discharged by any other authority than the sovereign government of Alberta itself.

The Alberta government now has a grievance against the Dominion police on the ground that it is laying too many informations for liquor prosecutions under Dominion laws instead of under provincial laws, with the result that the fines that are imposed go to the federal treasury instead of to the provincial treasury. But what else should it expect? Notwithstanding the fact that Alberta pays for the police, the latter remains a federal service subject to instructions from Ottawa, and the federal treasury needs revenue as urgently as the treasury of Alberta does. Before long there will be other cases of inco-ordination between the federal and provincial authorities over this policing business, and Alberta will have to revert to its own provincial force.

There is a widespread impression—none the less absurd—that the Canadian provinces are subordinate or secondary factors in the structure of confederation, and that they figuratively should sit in the bleachers while the Dominion authority occupies the grandstand. It is something of a phenomenon that notwithstanding the various decisions of the Privy Council emphasizing provincial sovereignty in many matters, this silly fiction still exists among intelligent people. Even the Kidd commission, according to reports, shares that view.

As a matter of fact, confederation is no more and no less than a partnership of provinces which were in existence long before a federal organization was dreamed of, and within the ambit of the powers which they in conference agreed to give to themselves each of them is supreme, each of them plays first violin in the orchestra, while the Dominion plays second fiddle. Whatever may be a provincial government's status outside the boundaries of its province, within those boundaries, except in certain specific aspects, it is supreme; Ottawa does not count at all.

One of the primary duties of the province is the administration of law and order, which, of course, includes the organization and direction of their own police paid for by their own particular public. It seems almost elementary that this important provincial service should be under provincial control, in view of the fact that it is often charged with duties which are exclusively provincial, unconnected with the rest of Canada and with which Ottawa—many miles away, and which controls and directs the Dominion police—is quite unfamiliar.

No police force can properly serve two masters, and Alberta is finding that out. It will find out more when a conflict involving the employment of the police arises between the government at Edmonton and the government at Ottawa. As for British Columbia, whatever arrangement may be practicable between our own provincial and municipal authorities relative to police service—and it ought to be possible to effect a considerable saving in that direction—it is to be hoped that the government will not substitute for its own admirable police department one which, however excellent it may be, would be subject to control from Ottawa, some three thousand miles away.

LEARN SWIMMING

THE LAMENTABLE TRAGEDY AT Shawanigan Lake the other day, when Marjorie Gilliland and Wilfred ("Buzz") Francis, popular members of Victoria's younger set, lost their lives when their speedboat overturned, once again emphasizes the necessity of swimmers being instructed in life-saving. As Mr. R. W. Hiberson, the president of the Vancouver Island Swimming League, points out, classes in life-saving are conducted at the Crystal Garden by competent instructors, and were more of our swimmers to take advantage of this training, tragedies of the nature which shocked many Victorians on Tuesday would be rare.

Mr. Hiberson suggests that parents impress upon their children the necessity and advantages of being able to save life in the water. He refers to the numerous fatalities which might have been avoided if those involved had been properly equipped with the knowledge which may be imparted to them by officials and instructors of the Royal Life-Saving Society. Unhappily, nothing that can be said or done now will restore the lives of the two young people who met their death in the waters of Shawanigan Lake, but the best memorial would be the resolve on the part of swimmers to take the advice of Mr. Hiberson.

SANTOS-DUMONT

THE DEATH THE OTHER DAY OF Alberto Santos-Dumont at the age of fifty-nine was a reminder that one by one the great pioneers of aviation are passing from the scene.

Although Santos-Dumont was only fifty-nine he built and flew his first dirigible before Zeppelin built and flew his first one. And it will be recalled that he also built and flew heavier-than-air machines when people were quite positive that those fragile things would never be practical. Incidentally, Orville Wright, who with his brother Wilbur flew the first airplane, is still alive and would not consider himself by any means old at sixty-one.

Since the Wrights lifted the first heavier-than-air machine off the ground in 1903 aviation has made enormous strides; but it is still comparatively in its infancy. How far may it not go before it comes to maturity?

MR. HOOVER ACCEPTS

AS IS THE CUSTOM OF THE COUNTRY, Mr. Hoover has officially accepted the nomination of the Republican party for President of the United States, and last night at Constitution Hall, in Washington, he said his formal party piece.

To-day's dispatch describes part of his address as "a startling presidential call for prohibition reform and a promise to beat down the economic 'hurricane.'" He went far beyond his party's platform when he said "I can not consent to the continuation of this regime." But he would seem to be going rather too far into the realm of criticism when he said the Democrat plan for repeal meant a return of the saloon. No government, be it Republican or Democrat, in the United States at this stage, or at any stage in the future, would put its political head into the noose by restoring the old time-waster, money-waster, and demoralizer—the saloon.

It will take several years, however, for our neighbor to change its constitution as far as it concerns the Eighteenth Amendment. For the time being Canada is mainly interested in the presidential campaign as its result may change the republic's tariff policy. Mr. Hoover represents the party of high tariffs. Under his regime Canada's market for many products—the new lumber and copper duties has hit British Columbia badly—has been very considerably contracted. Canada, of course, to the extent of her ability, has retaliated. If the Republicans re-elect him, there will be little hope for any substantial scaling down of the customs duties affecting a natural exchange of commodities. It is being realized in the United States, nevertheless, that its own economic condition demands drastic fiscal changes.

On the other hand, Mr. Roosevelt, who has yet to make his formal campaign keynote speech as the candidate for President of the Democrat party, would follow the traditional Liberal policy of easy trading facilities—tariffs for revenue and not for exclusion. By a Democrat regime, if it ran true to form, the Fordney-McCumber, the Hawley-Smoot, and the recent special tariff legislation would get a rough handling.

Canada, therefore, while not taking any sides in her neighbor's election, stands to gain much more by the election of Mr. Roosevelt than by the endorsement of President Hoover.

MUSSOLINI BREAKS OUT

THE PRESS OF THE WORLD IS NATURALLY asking what has been going on recently in the mind of Premier Mussolini of Italy. In the early years of his regime he frequently announced that guns were more effective than words. He rattled the sword on numerous occasions. He was a one-man government. He held, at one time, no fewer than eight portfolios. Then he divided himself up and shared the jobs—and suddenly became an apostle of peace. Now he has written an article on Fascism for the Encyclopaedia Italiana in which he makes us believe that he is still true to his first love—war. Nor is there any doubt about his attitude, apparently, for in a recent speech he said that pacifism "implies renunciation of struggle"; that "war brings human energies to their full force, placing the seal of nobility on people who have the courage to face it."

Only the other day at Geneva the French delegates at the Disarmament Conference got into a wrangle with the Italian delegates and cries of "assassins of Matteotti!" disturbed the "peaceful" atmosphere. This was merely thought to be a boiling over of Latin blood. But it is possible that France, who ought to know her neighbors, knows Italy—and Germany—better than anybody else, and looks with suspicion on anything upon which a great white light is not permitted to shine. We have recently had described by a well-known British naval expert Italy's new cruisers as not being quite in harmony with Premier Mussolini's peaceful protestations. Then there was the grand naval review, with the Prime Minister—not King Victor—doing the honors of the day. However, perhaps the article to which a good deal of attention is being paid has been colored for the benefit of the youth of Italy.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

ECONOMY IN THE FREE STATE
The Dublin Weekly Irish Times

Mr. de Valera entered office on a promise of retrenchment in expenditure; but so far his government has economized on nothing except its own salaries—a drop in the bucket when compared with the sea of extravagance whereon it proposes to embark. This year's deficit in the State accounts will be formidable, and the taxpayer will be hard set to pay for it. If he is not penalized by additional income tax the government may find some equally severe means to screw money out of him; and the hardship must be endured by a people which shortly will suffer the acute pressure of high prices, without any compensating advantages.

MORE THAN 54,000 MILES OF EGGS
Canada Week by Week

If the eggs laid by the hens of Canada in 1931 were placed end to end they would go round the globe more than twice. Canadian hens last year paid no heed to talk of depression but carried on more briskly than ever before with their work and as a result laid 266,882,447 dozen eggs, or a total of 3,442,489,364. Worked out in mileage these eggs laid end to end would extend for over 54,300 miles. Among the provinces Ontario leads in egg production with a total in 1931 of 116,562,567 dozen from 13,585,910 egg-producing hens. Saskatchewan was second with 42,602,264 dozen from 5,232,420 hens, and Alberta was third with 34,454,408 dozen from 4,070,400 hens. The total value of the eggs produced last year was $49,206,845, or an average price of 17 cents per dozen, compared with 27 cents per dozen in 1930. While the price was lower in 1931 than it has been for several years, the hens tried to make up for this by running their average up to 112 compared with an average of 95 in 1930 and an average of 78 in 1921.

A THOUGHT

But he forsook the counsel of the old men, which they had given him, and consulted with the young men that were grown up with him, and which stood before him.—Kings xlii. 8.

Necessity is the only successful adviser.—Charles Reade.

Loose Ends

A tornado strikes our lake—the candles are blown out—the cake demolished—the mouth organ played—and the little girl is definitely four years old.

By H. B. W.

I ALWAYS SEEM to have a valid excuse these days for not putting any profound thought into this column. For two days I was recovering from a rest up on the Forbidden Plateau, and to-day I thought that, beside the calm waters of our lake, I could collect my mind again and perhaps make my flesh creep in my usual style. But alas for the plans of mice and men, I am sitting up by the lake to-day in the remains of a tornado, among the survivors of a tornado, amid the debris of an earthquake. Yes, the little girl from next door has been having a birthday party up here this afternoon. This is sufficient excuse for anything.

A COTTAGE BY our lake, of course, is no place for a birthday party, but what are you going to do? Birthdays always occur just when they want to, at the most idiotic times. Apparently nothing could stop the little girl from next door becoming four years old to-day. It was an unfortunate arrangement, but we did our best. Even though our camp equipment was short of a glass and a dish, and we had only three fancy candles for the cake, we gave a party. One of the guests had to drink out of a cup and the fourth candle was taken out of an old beer bottle which usually holds it in the cabin where the boys sleep, but it was a real birthday party nevertheless.

THE FIRST difficulty was to find anyone to come to the party, because you can't have a party without anyone to come to it, the little girl says, although some parties I have attended would have been much better without the guests. But in the end four little girls and four little boys were collected somehow and agreed to come. The two oldest boys, Armand and Randall, said they wouldn't attend a kids' party and determined to withdraw into the woods; but when they saw the preparations under way in the kitchen, when they observed the monster cake and the fruit salad being prepared, they began to weaken. At last when the milk came with the ice cream from the store, their better natures asserted themselves and they said they would come, much against their will, so that they might help to entertain the guests. We appreciated their sacrifice.

THE GUESTS had great difficulty in securing presents at our lake for the little girl next door, but they displayed a remarkable ingenuity. Some of them brought their own toys. One little girl's mother had cooked a big box of home-made candy which is sure to produce nice red spots on her hostess's face. Finally, from across the bay, appeared holding an eight-inch trout which he had caught all by himself that very morning. He said he regretted that a much larger and finer one had got off his hook just as he was about to land it. And he indignantly denied the statement of his appreciative hostess that his present was only an old catfish, with the whiskers removed. The eight-inch trout was put away in the cupboard for further consideration.

THE CYCLONE was now fairly under way. It raged up and down the veranda. It shattered the hammock and wrecked the woodpile, and finally spent itself in the lake. The entire party went swimming in the lake where the hostess entertained charmingly with the "Stralian crawl," which consists of putting your hands on the bottom and splashing your guests with your feet until most of them run, shrieking, to their mothers.

AFTER THE swim the whole company emerged with rainy faces and wet hair and an appetite of incredible proportions. The first formality, of course, was to extinguish the three fancy candles and the fourth common white candle on the birthday cake. The little girl from next door blew and blew in vain until one of the boys, despairing of ever making contact with the sandwiches, leaned over and blew out the flames in one big puff. This was a grave social error. His hostess very properly slapped him in the face and bawled aloud as any well-bred hostess would do under the circumstances. Finally the candles were lighted again and she was suspended directly over them so that she could blow them out herself. They were still smoking when the last of the sandwiches disappeared.

MEANWHILE THE brother of the little girl next door, being just fourteen months old and brutally ostracized by this mature company, was spending the afternoon in his own fashion. Abandoned on the veranda, he proceeded to make a thorough investigation of his sister's presents. He could see no real merit in the picture book and tore several pages out of it, but they didn't taste in the least interesting. He licked the water-color paints, but they didn't appeal to him either. The wheelbarrow was also useless to a young man who can only stand up if he clutches the railing with both hands. Most of the other things were out of his reach on the couch, but he soon remedied that by pulling the cover completely off, toys and all. Whereupon he looked up at me, who sat helplessly by, and said "Yoglie, yoglie," with a cynical laugh which, in a language well known to both of us, means "That'll show those snooty relatives of mine whether I'm a baby or not."

WE HAD little time to debate the merits of it all at that moment, for the little girl next door, who had been given him, and which stood before him.—Kings xlii. 8.

about. For the rest of the afternoon he sat in a corner blowing into it until he became quite purple in the face and was finally packed off, howling, to bed. I felt this was rather hard, because a young man doesn't often get a chance at a mouth organ when four little girls and four little boys are around.

AFTER SUPPER the storm arose anew. The little boys decided to play Indians and cowboys in the woods and the little girls went down by the hammock to give a tea party with the fancy tea set which Uncle Bun had sent up from town. The tea party was a complete success except for a few minor quarrels over who should pour the tea, but the Indians and cowboys experienced grave hardships in the wilderness. One Indian brave was stung by a wasp as he sat down, whereupon he would expect him to be stung, and came shrieking to his mother. That is one Indian who will not sit down again for several days. His fellow tribesman, unaccustomed to pale faces' food and running too vigorously through the forest, lost his entire supper, and was very white about the gills for all his red Indian blood.

EVERYBODY WENT home at last and the little girl crawled into bed with her shiny tea set, Uncle Bun's present, lying on the pillow beside her. "Well," said "what message do you want to send to Uncle Bun, down in the city?" She thought carefully for a moment and then replied: "Tell Uncle Bun, many happy returns of the day." And we heard her murmur just before she went to sleep, "Holy Moses, but it won't be long before Christmas and lots more presents from Sandy Claus."

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

The Victoria Daily Times
August 12, 1907
(From The Times Files)

Weather Forecast—Victoria and Vicinity—Light or moderate winds, partly cloudy, with showers.

Herbert Cuthbert, secretary of the Victoria Tourist Association, who, in company with J. W. Martindale, was in charge of the local exhibit at the Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, and Moose Jaw fairs, has just returned home, stated to The Times to-day that the object of the exhibit had been accomplished in every way, and that success had attended it at all four shows.

R. M. Palmer of the provincial bureau of immigration, returned home yesterday morning from a tour of the Okanagan district. He finds the fruit crops very good especially in apples and plums. This will to some extent, effect the export market.

William E. Devereux, civil engineer, has just returned from the West Coast where he was arranging in the interest of those who hold claims in the vicinity of Port Renfrew. He states that the ore when tested went 68 1/2 per cent.

The steamer Queen City, in charge of Captain Thomas Gunna, arrived at the outer wharf to-day from Rivers Inlet. She brought 110 passengers for Vancouver and six for Victoria.

The Princess Royal arrived from Skagway and Northern ports shortly before 7 o'clock this morning, a day behind schedule time. The delay was caused by the loss of one of the propeller blades on Monday morning last.

Despite the inclemency of the weather which attended the annual sports of the St. Andrews Society at the Oak Bay grounds on Saturday, the gathering as usual, proved a decided success.

INVESTIGATIONS

To the Editor:—Now that the Kidd Commission has investigated government, in the interest of business, it should now be the duty of the government to investigate business in the interest of the public. For example, what is the price paid by the public as consumers—for business extravagance, ineptitude and dishonesty? What about stock watering? Congress at Washington has had the Morgans, Rockefellers, Schwabs and the rest on the grill? Why should the government of British Columbia not manifest a similar conception of its duty to the public?

BEWILDERED.

HARD-BOILED

To the Editor:—Obviously "Dickey Sam" is a hard-boiled Tory. Otherwise he would not go back twenty-five years in excusing the five-million-dollar deficit of the Tolmie administration last year. Equally obvious he must be a C.P.R. partisan, for while he sets up a fantastic excuse for the deficits of the provincial government, he will not admit any excuse for the deficits of the C.N.R., which per capita are much less than those of the Tolmie administration. Does he not think, for instance, that the C.P.R. was as extravagant? What about the Empress of Britain and the Lucerne resort, just to mention two cases? "Dickey Sam" gives himself away every time he writes a letter to the press.

I.O.D.E. SCHOLAR RETURNS HOME

Frank S. Morley, Ph.D.,
Writes of Experiences at Edinburgh University

Compares Canada's "Defeatism" Mood With Optimism in Britain

Members of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire in Victoria will be interested in the impressions of one of its War Memorial scholars, Frank S. Morley, who has just returned to Canada after two years at Edinburgh University, Scotland, where he obtained his Ph.D. Mr. Morley is a graduate of the University of British Columbia, was awarded an overseas scholarship under the I.O.D.E. scheme to the value of $1,600 for 1930-31, and was granted a similar scholarship for the following year, to enable him to continue his studies at Edinburgh.

Writing to Miss A. B. Cooke, provincial educational secretary of the Provincial I.O.D.E., he says in part: "I must thank that Order for all the happiness of the past two years. They have been full of beautiful things and I have lived. My gratitude must be measured by my appreciation and enjoyment of the many opportunities the scholarships afforded me. I hope Miss Freeman enjoys her time in the Old Country as I did. I knew her at the University of British Columbia, and was very glad to hear she got an I.O.D.E. scholarship for she is a fine scholar. I had a letter from Ralph Steadman (another I.O.D.E. scholar) the other day, and he has accepted a post at British University. He has gone brilliantly, but is setting a great pace for the rest of the I.O.D.E. scholars."

HAPPY EXPERIENCES
Of his stay in Scotland Mr. Morley says: "I had many happy days and experiences in Edinburgh, but in memory the happiest were those spent in poring over old newspapers and government documents in the National Library, down below the level of the ground. "After I had submitted my thesis to Edinburgh University I went south to London with the intention of studying at the Institute of Historical Research, but as my health was not good I had to go to the country instead. How very marvellous it was—the great hills, the little farms, the old houses, the old historic schools and colleges, romantic old castles, lovely English gardens, the springing of the water, the great joy of the charming people who were extraordinarily kind."

Mr. Morley returned to Canada on the boat which brought the British delegation to the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa, also the South African, Rhodesian and Indian delegations. Aboard, too, were the Olympic teams of Hungary, Belgium, South Africa and the United Kingdom, whose workouts in the gymnasium proved most interesting to watch.

NO DEPRESSION IN BRITAIN
His reactions to Canada are interesting. "Almost two years away, and now beautiful Canada appeared! I had enjoyed beyond measure the beauty of other scenes, but there were more lovely trees than our maples! Are not the hills about Quebec as green as those of Kent? Is the Thames mud-dier than the St. Lawrence?"

"The depressing thing about returning home is the depression in the minds of Canadians. In Great Britain no one talks depression; there is no suggestion of the mood 'defeatism'. Life is cheery and conversation bright. Yet here everyone seems to have a depression complex. Could it be much worse if our country were held by a foreign army of occupation? Those who have money worry lest they soon lose it; those who haven't any worry lest they never get any again. And so we go about practising the reverse of Mr. Cooke's famous method. Every day in every way things get worse and worse! My reaction to Toronto was the thought, how unhappy everyone is! I hope the conference is a success for it will do much to restore our morale."

Over 200 varieties of gladioli, running the gamut of color from pure white to deepest purple, flaunted their lovely heads at the very successful gladioli tea held yesterday afternoon at the Cridge Memorial Hall. The affair was sponsored by the Ladies' Aid of the Church of Our Lord, and C. S. McTavish of Breeds' Cross Road, the grower of the blooms, generously donated them to the cause of the church funds.

E. M. Whyte, president of B.C. Arranged by the grower, assisted by Mrs. Hugh MacCallum, Miss Helmeck, Mrs. Frank Shandley, Mrs. Alan Watson (Vancouver) and Mrs. E. LEAP YEAR BRIDE

by Laura Lou BROOKMAN

"Then come away with me!"

"What makes you so anxious to leave Wellington?"

"Why shouldn't I want to leave? I hate the town! They're all a lot of old gossip. Besides, it's the thing to do. If I get out of here I can start a new life. Oh—Cherry! So you're thinking about her now?"

"Don't talk that way, Brenda. I have to think of Cherry, don't I, if you and I are to be married? I mean she'll have to divorce me. Of course she'll take time but in the meanwhile—"

"In the meanwhile I told you there are letters I must write. Really, Dan, you should go. It's growing late."

"If you want me to leave promise me one thing! I'm willing to wait a week to hear from that agent. If a letter doesn't come by that time promise you'll go to New York with me!"

"But, Dan—"

"All right—then I don't leave! You'd promise, Brenda, if you cared for me as much as you said. You'd promise if you loved me!"

"Her shoulders moved impatiently. 'You're being very foolish again,' Brenda told him. 'Of course I love you. Why do you doubt me so? It's cruel of you!'

"Then you will go?"

"In a week. Yes—I promise!"

As he rapped for the elevator a few moments later Dan Phillips assured himself he was the happiest fellow in the world. He was almost able to make himself believe this.

"CHAPTER XLV

Brenda Vail spread more of the bluish-grey paste on her face. She smeared it on like a mask, beginning at the edge of the towel, pinned tightly about her forehead, and working downward to the base of her neck. She patted the soft, wet compound with her fingers and when she had finished only her eyes and mouth showed. The eyes looked like slits in the grey mask. Brenda's lips, usually so vividly crimson, were pallid and pressed together in a tight line. Selfish lips. Quick-tempered lips. Cruel lips.

At last the mask was done and Brenda inspected herself in the mirror of the dressing table. Though the effect was far from flattering she seemed satisfied.

Here in the privacy of her bedroom Brenda had abandoned the luxurious chiffons and satins she usually wore. A cotton kimono, faded and soiled, was draped about her, fastened at the waist by a safety pin. Her hair was concealed by the turban-like towel. Shapeless bedroom slippers covered her feet. She rose from the dressing table, went to the chaise longue and lay back against it with a sigh. The mask must remain on her face twenty minutes and the watch at her wrist gave the time as a little after two o'clock. Brenda closed her eyes, relaxing as magazine articles by beauty experts advise.

There was no one else in the room or in the apartment. The maid who wore the crisp, grey uniform and ruffled cap appeared there only when Miss Vail had visitors to impress. Her name was Minnie Johnson, though on duty she answered to "Yvonne." Yvonne was to arrive this afternoon at four o'clock. Ten minutes passed and then a bell shrilled loudly. The telephone in the next room. Brenda's eyes darkened with annoyance.

There was nothing for her to do, however, but arise and answer the call. The heedless bedroom slippers flopped clumsily as Brenda walked.

She had to push back the cloth about her head that she could hold the instrument to her ear. It was a French telephone done in ivory enamel. "Hello," she said.

"Dan Phillips is speaking. His voice sounded eager and excited. 'Is that you, Brenda?' he asked and went on without giving her time to reply. 'Wanting to tell you I've just seen the boss. Told him I was through with The Wellington News and this town, too. I'm quitting Saturday. Everything's all settled—'

"You mean you've given up your job?"

"Sure. Why not? I had to quit if we leave for New York Sunday, don't you? I thought you'd be glad to hear it! It won't be long now, Brenda."

There was no change of expression on the woman's face. The day mask made that impossible. But resentment sounded in her voice.

"Don't you think you should have waited?" she asked.

"There's nothing to wait for! Say, I feel better already. Listen, Brenda, I want to talk to you. Suppose I drop around as near to five as I can make it? We'll have dinner together—"

It had been purchased two days before—immediately on receipt of Mr. Harris's letter—and was exactly Brenda Vail's idea of attire suitable in which to receive an important figure of the motion picture world. The jade green velvet fell into graceful trousers. The bodies molded her figure closely, and was accented by a girdle of cloth of gold. Brenda fastened the low neck-line with a ruby clasp. She stepped into sandals of gold kid and buckles. The straps, Billy, bluish there would be more bills for this new finery, but what was expenses on such an occasion?"

LIKE INFANTS OF "PINAFORE" EARLY ROLES SAW SEXES MIXED

By ROBERT GRANDON

"You might not believe it to look at me, Bob," Eugene Pallette, confided to me the other day as we sat at luncheon. "But my first appearance on any stage was in the role of 'Little Eva.'"

Gazing at the rotund comedian, and remembering his days as leading man with the old Flying A, it was hard to picture him . . . and yet Eugene was born to the stage. His father and mother were troupers, and Little Eva was followed by Little Willie in "East Lynne."

Castro back, I recalled that many of our screen favorites made their debut in roles of the opposite sex. . . . Ann (Platinum) Harding stalked before the footlights at Baldwin School for Girls, wearing false whiskers at the age of fourteen. . . . Laurence (not Ronald Coleman) Olivier was twelve when he played Katherine in "The Taming of the Shrew" at an English boy's prep school. . . . Phillips (Juvonille) Holmes was a youthful Portia when he played "The Merchant of Venice" at the age of eight and was billed as "the youngest Shakespearean actress in the world."

Which proves . . . it doesn't matter, after all, how they start. . . . It's how they finish that counts.

Are you worried about your child's future? Robert Grandon's Horoscope leaflet may contain some good advice. Write for it enclosing three cents and a stamped, addressed envelope.

Local Seniors Have Field Day In Golf Journey At Colwood

In All But One Match With Outsiders in Four Classes and Three Flights; All-Victoria Finals in Classes B and D; B. S. Heisterman Again Wins at Twenty-first; Joe Wilson Triumphs, 9 and 8

Two years ago there were two Americans, J. A. Byerly, Portland, and J. H. Fuller, Aberdeen, Wash., who battled at Colwood for the grand championship of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association, but yesterday on the same course both were beaten in the semi-finals, and an international encounter was assured. The victors were Col. J. P. Fell, Vancouver, who convincingly beat Byerly, 1930 champion, 5 and 3, and Joshua Green, Seattle, who accounted for Fuller on the first extra hole after a titanic struggle.

Victoria's inability to put a man past the first round of the grand championship has proved not altogether an untimely evil, for the home town is in the enviable position of being represented in all four class championships and in three flights, and both Class B and Class D finals are all-Victoria affairs. In Class A, R. W. Gibson advanced to the finals by downing W. J. Conway, Vancouver, and is meeting H. S. Riggs, Tacoma, for the honors. Griggs who is, however, one of the keenest golfers in the tournament and scored an impressive victory over P. R. Stewart, Vancouver, 4 and 3 yesterday.

In Class C the local hopes are borne by H. G. Wilson, who downed Winlock Miller, Seattle, last year's defeated finalist in the grand by a score of 3 and 2. To-day he is meeting Alex. Dickinson, Seattle veteran, to whom R. W. Wilbur, Portland, was obliged to default yesterday because of an injured foot.

TWO VICTORIES
The Class D final will be fought out between the two Victorians, T. S. McPherson, captain of the Canadian team in the International Match-to-day, and B. S. Heisterman. Heisterman engaged in his second twenty-one-hole match in as many days against his townsmen, J. A. Scott, while McPherson beat the Portlander, A. D. Katz, at the nineteenth.

In the first flight, A. T. Goward, Victoria, will engage C. R. Harold, Seattle, tournament medalist, in the final Goward downed Capt. W. Langley, Seattle, one up, and Harold beat his townsmen, Miller Freeman, 4 and 3.

O. R. Naden, Victoria, and H. J. Pether, Seattle, are contesting the second flight final, and H. E. Beasley, Victoria, and A. W. Blake, Vancouver, the third flight final.

In his grand championship semi-final with Byerly, Fell got off on the right foot by winning the first and third holes. He lost the fourth, but won three of the next five to be four up at the turn. The winner played the tricky water-hole thirteenth in four and finished the match on the fifteenth with a nice par three.

The Green-Fuller match saw neither man more than one up or one down the whole nineteen holes. Green lost the third to go one down, the next four were halved and Green squared the match with a great birdie three on the eighth. The ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth were halved, the eventual loser took a one-hole lead at the thirteenth, but lost it at the next hole. The last four holes were halved, but Green, sunk a ten-footer on the nineteenth for a par four and match.

Results of the long-driving competition held during the afternoon were: Class A, Fane Sewell, Victoria, 217 yards; Class B, Capt. W. Langley, Seattle, 223 yards; Class C, J. H. Fuller, Aberdeen, 218 yards, and Class D, T. S. McPherson, Victoria, 202 yards.

The daily putting competition was won by W. O. Howarth, Everett, with a score of 34. The bogey competition resulted in a triple tie, which will be played off to-day.

GRAND CHAMPIONSHIP
J. P. Fell (Vancouver) defeated J. A. Byerly (Portland), 5 and 1.

GAS CONTRACT TO BE SIGNED

Saanich Council Approves Agreement for Extension of Mains

Extension of the gas mains of the Victoria Gas Company, into Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich, at a cost of more than $100,000 for street work, high pressure pipe and pumping apparatus, was advanced another stage yesterday evening, when the Saanich Council unanimously approved the terms of a contract submitted by the gas company for extensions proposed to be made in Saanich.

The cost of work within the municipal boundaries was placed at not less than $20,000, this amount to be expended within two years from the ratification of the agreement.

The council was told by Reeve Crouch that assurances had been given that, as soon as field work commenced, as many Saanich residents as possible would receive employment on the work undertaken within the municipality.

A number of minor changes, suggested by the legal advisers of the three municipalities, had been conceded by the gas company, these including such points as partly with Victoria in meter rentals and maintenance of the quality of the gas supplied.

Following approval of the agreement, the council ordered the municipal clerk to prepare the by-law necessary to formally authorize the receive to sign and seal the agreement.

If the penalty proves insufficient, the lay-off will be increased to two weeks for subsequent complaints.

Mr. Sherratt will leave shortly for Vancouver, having been promoted to manager of that agency, and the gathering was to wish him farewell and every success in his new position. The chair was taken by E. J. Bowden, fourteen being present. An address and gifts for both Mr. and Mrs. Sherratt were presented. The speeches set forth the cordially high esteem in which Mr. Sherratt is held by the staff. Mr. Sherratt will be replaced in Victoria by Mr. McLung of Calgary. Mr. Sherratt added the same loyal devotion be shown as he has always himself received.

"This is the second place to heaven," he added, "emphasizing the desire of his conferees to meet here yearly."

There are ten club members in the city, including Minot Davis, J. C. Denison and Thomas Ray of Tacoma, and H. T. Blake of Seattle.

"The depression is responsible for it," said Dr. Sturgis in explaining the slim delegation. "But there will be more here next year."

A formal dinner will be given at the hotel this evening. To-morrow will be spent playing golf. The reunion will terminate to-morrow night.

COUNCIL DOES ROUTINE WORK

Oak Bay Municipal Body Settles Matters About Oak Trees and Special Grants

Routine business was handled at the regular meeting of the Oak Bay Council, held yesterday afternoon in the Council Chamber, with Rev. E. C. Hayward in the chair.

Present were Councillors Richard Angus, T. J. Goodlake, A. D. Grease and H. Patterson. Following the meeting the council assembled in committee of the whole to further discuss the gas agreement between the municipality and the B.C. Electric Railway, whereby residents of Oak Bay at some future date will be supplied with gas.

The council refused a request for a grant of $50 to help build a hotel for fire equipment during the forthcoming exhibition at the Willows. T. W. Hawkins, chairman of the fire wardens' committee, explained in a letter to the council that in past years it was found necessary to house the fire-fighting equipment in a tent and this had proved most unsatisfactory, and considerable expense had been incurred when the equipment had been damaged by inclement weather.

The council expressed its regret that it would be unable to make this grant. A grant of $200 was voted to the Victorian Order of Nurses. This body does much work in Oak Bay and the grant is an annual one.

The tree committee recommended cutting down at least two of the plant oak trees near the home of G. W. C. McNeill, at 2726 Cadboro Bay Road. Municipal Engineer Richardson will make a survey, accompanied by Councillors Grease and Goodlake. Councillor Goodlake also suggested that the committee look into the dense growth of trees around the Municipal Hall.

The seawall on Beach Drive, immediately in front of the Oak Bay Hotel, has now been completed at an approximate cost of $14,000. It is about 1,000 feet in length and has provided much-needed employment for a number of men during the summer. In this connection a letter was read from F. B. Pemberton, in which he pointed out the necessity of leaving big logs above the high-water mark in order to prevent any erosion of the bank. He was of the opinion that the logs have been necessary to build the seawall if the big logs had been left there to form a natural breakwater. He referred to the practice of beach parties lighting fires on the beach and burning the logs for firewood. He suggested that the council do something to keep the logs there. The letter was received and read by Mr. Pemberton, who agreed with Mr. Pemberton's views.

WILL WELCOME "Y" SECRETARY

Y.W.C.A. Board Plans For Visit of National Officer in October

Tentative plans for the forthcoming visit of Miss Ethel Law, national secretary, were made at the monthly meeting of the Y.W.C.A. board of directors held this morning at the association headquarters, Mrs. Arthur Walsh, the president, in the chair.

Miss Law will visit the first week in October in Victoria during the course of a Dominion-wide tour, and the program for her stay here will be announced later. She will return to Victoria for the week-end of October 14 to 16, on which dates the Y.W.C.A. has invited the other boards of British Columbia to attend a regional conference here for the discussion of various problems, the board of the Vancouver "Y" has already accepted the invitation, and a good delegation is expected from the national office.

Mrs. W. M. Allan was made convener of the newly-organized welfare committee, which will make its special work the care of young mothers in poor circumstances. The committee will arrange weekly gatherings for these young mothers, helping them in the preparation of layettes, and instructing them in knitting and sewing.

The board will operate a rest lounge at the Willows Park, and will provide facilities for resting, reading and writing—an inauguration which it is hoped, will help meet a long-felt need during fair week.

Reports were given of the various branches of the work, including the making of jam for distribution through the Friendly Help to the needy of the city. This movement has proved a great success, and more preserves will be made as soon as berries or other fruit are donated.

It was reported that the renovations at the "Y" annex had proved most satisfactory, and this will shortly be ready for reopening.

Sir Frank Dyson Tells Canadian Club of Greenwich Observatory's Work

Astronomer Royal Says Study of Stars Has Cultured Value

"I cannot say I see much of economic value in astronomy, but there is a very great cultural value," Sir Frank Dyson, Astronomer Royal, and director of Greenwich Observatory this afternoon told the Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel, in the course of a review of the progress made by the science since the foundation of Greenwich Observatory by King Charles II. Declaring the outstanding achievement of Greenwich had been provision of accurate time, the director of the observatory reviewed the slow progress whereby his institution had gradually succeeded in providing mariners with means to ascertain their positions on the high seas.

Alderman T. Strath presided, guests at the head table including Dr. J. S. Plaskett and members of staff of the Dominion Astro-physical Observatory.

During all the 250 years which have passed since the Royal Observatory at Greenwich was established its important work has been the provision of accurate time.

He considered that life in modern cities had militated against study of the stars, which was much practiced in earlier years of the world, when shepherds and nomads scanned the heavens.

Astronomy had come into the life of the people of Great Britain in a practical way because of the dominance of her maritime interests. Seamen had always been able to ascertain their latitude by the stars, but longitude had provided great difficulties for generations.

In the times of King Charles II the suggestion was made that longitude could be definitely known by means of the moon. It was suggested that preparation of an almanac of the moon's changes would solve the problem, and King Charles sent the suggestion to the Royal Society. That was the original duty for which the Royal Observatory at Greenwich was established. The first astronomer was given a salary of £100 yearly, with which he had to equip himself with instruments.

Sir Frank said the founding of the observatory had resulted in considerable success in spectroscopic study of stars, which had been a factor in the decision to establish the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Little Saanich Mountain. "We have now progressed to studies of the motion of the stars and no observatory had, contributed more toward that work than had your observatory here," he remarked. Dr. Plaskett moved the vote of thanks.

How to Make a Success of Marriage Dorothy Dix Find a Good First Requirement

Marriage is a business as well as a sentimental proposition—if a woman makes a go of it, she will be one of the richest women in the world—if she fails, she will be bankrupt.

BRIDE asks me if I will give her a few tips on how to make her marriage a success.

Well, my dear, the first thing to bear in mind is that marriage is a business as well as a sentimental proposition. It is an investment into which you are only putting your heart, but your dy and soul and brains and the work your hands and all your time and pes and ambitions. If you make a of it, you will be one of the richest men in the world. If it fails, you are bankrupt. So go into marriage with the same determination to make a reer of it as you would of any other elling that you had chosen.

And the same tactics that would enable you to make a success of any other occupation will make a success of marriage. If you started out to be a lawyer or a doctor or a writer or a buyer you wouldn't expect everything to be fair sailing. You would know that there would be many difficulties to surmount, many obstacles to overcome. You wouldn't expect to be flattered and cajoled and told how wonderful you were all the time.

You would expect to put in years of hard work learning your trade. You would expect to have to put up with unreason and criticism from your clients your employer. You would expect to set your teeth and carry on when you it like throwing up your hands and quitting cold. It is only in marriage at a woman expects everything to be all cakes and ale from the very start. The only marriage that she throws into discard when she finds the cards nning against her.

Believe me, daughter, if women would put as much intelligence and grit and hard work into making their marriages a success as they do into trying to be movie actresses and if they would use as much self-control and tact in dealing with their husbands as they do with their bosses there would be mighty few divorces.

It takes the wisdom of a seeress, the charm of Cleopatra, the patience of risselda and the financial ability of Hetty Green to make a woman a good life, and yet any little morose flapper thinks she can do it with her left hand hen she isn't giving her time and attention to something really serious, like irties or golf.

Remember that you are starting out with the breaks in your favor in having your husband in love with you; for practically no man sacrifices his freedom and assumes the burden of a family unless he is so much enamored of a girl that he feels he cannot live without her. That lets you off to a good start, and if your husband gets tired of you and bored with you it is mighty apt to be your own fault.

Now the four chief things that disillusion men and cause them to wonder that the fool-killer was doing that he didn't get them on their wedding day e untidiness, bad housekeeping, tyranny and nagging. Up to the time a man marries a girl he has never seen her except when she had her complexion on was freshly waved and manicured and all dolled up and looked like a rize package. Imagine, then, his revulsion of feeling when he gets his wedding its home and it turns out to be a bundle of rags smeared over with cold cream. You don't wonder that so many men leave home when you see what they ve look at every day.

Then every unmarried man labors under the delusion that all women just naturally know how to cook and manage the way their mothers did, so you can understand how a young husband feels when his bride sets him down to meals that would kill an ostrich. Hunger turns us all into imrimeval savages and it is inevitable that the man who has to live on burnt meat and soggy potatoes and heavy bread reverts to the cave man and takes at least a verbal club to the false alarm who has fared him into matrimony. That is not the comfortable and happy home for which he hooked his future.

Reflect, too, daughter, that men befool themselves into believing that they an be free though bound. They think that when they slip their necks under he matrimonial yoke they will still be able to wander a little off the beaten ath and make a few innocent excursions into new fields and greener pastures. hey think of a wife as an addition to their pleasures and they never dream hat the sweet little thing that they are leading to the altar is going to be a small Simon Legree, who will crack her whip over them the balance of their ves. Picture their dismay when they discover that they have not as much erty as a dog on a leash, and that their owners decide all of their uprisings nd downings, and even what they shall eat and wear.

Also, remember that a woman strips the last pink chignon from matri-mony with her tongue when she continually reminds her husband of his sins of omission and commission. Every other thing in the world will a man forgive his wife and love her still if she will refrain from nagging.

So, daughter, if you will keep yourself attractive and neat; if you will feed your husband well; if you will drive him with a light hand and never remind im of his faults, you need have no fear that any vamp will ever steal him way from you. You have tied him to you for keeps.

And never forget that the way to treat a husband is the way you would treat a baby. We want to be petted and chucked under the chin and goosed over and told he is the most beautiful thing and shown off to com-pany, and it is the women who do that who keep their husbands in love with them till their golden wedding day.

XX—FLYING LIZARDS

"If you look closely, you can make out the image of a large flying lizard," said Mr. Weston.

It was Mr. Weston speaking, or—as the children called him—Uncle Tim. He was pointing toward an outline on the face of a cliff.

"That animal," continued Uncle Tim, "died in there and was covered with mud. In the course of time, the mud hardened into rock. You can see that this flying lizard had a wing-spread of 10 or 11 feet."

"If you look closely, you can make out the image of a large flying lizard," said Mr. Weston.

"Is that one of the biggest flying lizards which ever lived?" asked Allen.

"No, there were others with much larger wing-spread. In the British Museum of London is the impression of a flying lizard which measured more than 20 feet from tip to tip of the wings."

"What were flying lizards like?" asked Roberta.

nowadays are not able to fly. How could they fly in olden times?"

"It is true that most modern lizards cannot fly," replied Uncle Tim, "but have you ever heard of dragon lizards? They live in the East Indies, and are able to fly in one sense of the word. They do not flap wings but they spread out folds of skin which help them to glide from one limb of a tree to another."

"How did the flying lizards of long ago move through the air?" asked Allen.

"We cannot be quite sure about that, but from the shape of their wings we judge that they flew very much as bats do, with jerky movements."

"What was the most terrible dinosaur of olden times?" asked Roberta.

"The Tyrant Lizard."

"Have we found any Tyrant Lizards on this island?"

"Not yet, but we still have hopes. We want even more to find a skeleton of an Atlantosaurus. So far we have looked in vain for that giant of all giants."

"Would the bones be very valuable?" asked Allen.

"If the skeleton should be complete, or nearly so, it would be the most valuable we could find. I believe that the museum would pay an extra reward to anyone who discovered an Atlantosaurus skeleton."

Allen said nothing more at that time, but an idea began to form in his mind.

DR. MILLIKAN IS TO FLY HIGH

Associated Press
Spokane, Wash., Aug. 12.—Completion of plans to take Dr. Robert A. Millikan, internationally known physicist, 20,000 feet above Spokane to study cosmic rays was announced here yesterday by Major Robert Breene, commander of the 116th Observation Squadron of the Washington National Guard.

Major Breene, who will act as pilot, said Dr. Millikan would come here early in September for the flight, scheduled to be made in an army observation plane.

Spokane had been chosen as one of three places for the test, Major Breene said, the other two being March Field, Riverside, Calif., and Minneapolis, Minnesota.

OAK BAY CUTS DOWN ON WORK

Forced to Put Regular Employees on Relief Work; Working Hours Reduced

Because the funds for public works in Oak Bay are running short, the council has found it imperative to seriously cut down on the time of all outside employees, commencing today, it was announced yesterday afternoon at the regular council meeting. Some $14,400 remains to be used on employment until the end of December, and the members of the council have been forced to cut down on the work in order to make this sum last. About seventeen regular outside employees of the municipality will be put on ordinary relief work, commencing today. This will give them one week's work in every four weeks, but the municipality will pay their superannuation, providing they are receiving less than a specified salary per month. Following is the formal announcement that has been made regarding this cut in employment: On account of shortage of funds, all outside employees will be put on shorter time on and after Friday (today) until further notice. The regular working week will be forty hours, instead of forty-eight hours, except in special cases. Twenty men will be placed on full time, as reduced, at the current rate of pay per hour. Other men will be placed on the same basis as relief men and put on one-quarter time (more or less), at 37½ cents an hour, plus an allowance to cover employee's contribution to superannuation. The council regrets the necessity for these decisions, and hopes to have more employment available at some future date. The taxes are not coming into the municipality's coffers as well as the council estimated early in the year. Because of this and other financial matters, the council has found it necessary to cut down on all expenses in order to make the estimated receipts cover the estimated expenditures.

DIVER SEEKS BODIES IN SHAWNIGAN LAKE

A diver from the Pacific Salvage Company this morning sought to locate the bodies of Wilfred "Buz" Francis and Marjorie Gilliland, victims of Tuesday's drowning accident at Shawnigan Lake. Dragging operations have been carried on since shortly after the tragedy which occurred when the young couple were hurled from a swerving speedboat. The bodies have not been located yet, however, and the diver was secured in a further attempt to find them.

Young Globe Trotter In From South Seas

Hartley of Gerald, Thirteen-year-old Chicago Youth, Arrives Aboard Niagara

Visited Fiji Islands and Lived Native, But Island Too Civilized

"The Fiji Islands were not half wild enough. I was looking for cannibals and an old civilization, with native wars and other things I had read about. Instead, I found peaceful villages of natives, all happily enjoying existence. I confess I was a little disappointed, but I had a great trip. I am now anxious to get back to Chicago and start school," said thirteen-year-old Hartley of Gerald of Chicago, one of the youngest globe trotters in the world, who passed through Victoria early this morning aboard the liner Niagara, returning from a month's visit to the South Sea Islands. He sailed from here on the Niagara in June.

Even if he did not find the life of the islands quite as wild as he anticipated, he lived native for five days. The picturesque chiefs were most kind to him, he said, and he lived in a hut in one of the small villages for nearly a week. He slept on the floor with the best of them, ate their food, which he declared was quite good. He was fishing in queer-looking boats and had to watch out for sharks.

FINE PLACES
But the Fiji Islands are beautiful. They are peaceful and calm and no one ever hurries, and everyone seems healthy and happy. When I got old and have seen the world, I wouldn't mind making my home there," declared the young traveler.

Although he is the son of a millionaire resident of Chicago, John de Gerald, vice-president of the People's National Bank and Trust Company, the young rover always travels third class. It was in this section of the Niagara that he arrived here. In this way, he says, he does not have to bother about dressing three and four times a day. He likes to travel light, with only one small sack for the belongings he actually needs. He wears riding breeches, a wide-brimmed hat and a khaki shirt. He is a philosopher. He read Robinson Crusoe when he was only eight, he said, and told his dad then that he wanted to see the world. His dad advised rugged travel all winter and a long voyage in the summer months.

Last year he had a wonderful trip. He went up to the Arctic Ocean, visiting the outposts of civilization up there. It was while at Akavik, on the rim of the Arctic, that he met Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, then on their flying trip to the Orient.

From Vancouver de Gerald intends to go down to Seattle to-day to enquire for Chicago. He wants several days at home before he again starts school.

STARS, DINGHIES PLANNING RACES
The stars and dinghies of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club will be busy both to-morrow and the next day racing around the Cadboro Bay course. Saturday and Sunday Discovery Island on Sunday. The stars will be racing to-morrow in the fifth of the series for the Longfellow Cup and the dinghies in the fifth of the series of the Devonian Cup. The dinghies will get away at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and the stars fifteen minutes later.

The annual classic around Discovery Island will start from the Cadboro Bay moorings at 10:30 o'clock when the stars will get away in their race for the Longfellow Cup. Five minutes later the dinghies will leave to race over the same course for a special cup.

The islands may be left to either port or starboard, it was announced this morning. Tides: Low water slack at Baynes Channel, 9:06 a.m.; high water slack, 6:31 p.m.

NEW LINER IN HOME PORT

NIAGARA IN FROM SOUTH

Liner Brings Small But Cosmopolitan Passenger List From South Sea Ports

Passengers from India and China, as well as from Australia, New Zealand and the South Seas, were aboard the Canadian Australasian liner Niagara, which docked at the Rihet pier early this morning at 12:15 o'clock from Sydney, Auckland, Suva and Honolulu. She proceeded to Vancouver at 1:30 o'clock and was tied up at the mainland pier with a 4 o'clock.

Capt. T. V. Hill, master of the ship, reported a good three-week voyage from Sydney. There had been a little fog and rough weather between Honolulu and this port, which kept the ship from docking until such a late hour.

There were 2,000 tons of general cargo aboard the Niagara this voyage, including eighty tons for discharge here. United States mails were also left here and went on to Seattle at 1 o'clock this morning by the S. S. Princess Kathleen.

The Niagara brought in a total of eighty-six passengers this voyage. Of these forty-two were in the first cabin, thirty-five in the tourist class and nine in the third class. Thirteen passengers left here, several transferring for Seattle.

Among the travelers aboard the liner were J. E. Peach, a prominent motor dealer of Napier, New Zealand, on the business visit to Canada and the United States with Mrs. Peach; J. W. Deans, chairman of the board of directors of the Canterbury Frozen Meat Company of New Zealand, en route to England on business and pleasure; Lieut.-Colonel A. A. Mellor, retired Indian Army officer, returning to England with Mrs. Mellor and their two children; Mrs. W. A. Mackay, wife of a partner in the firm of McDonald, Hamilton and Company, agents in Australia for the P. and O. Line, en route to England with Mrs. J. Alexander; W. McDonald, chief engineer of Swift and Company of Chicago, returning there after a business visit to Australia and New Zealand; W. A. McCutcheon, late representative in Sydney for the Western Electric Company, returning to the United States with his family; Capt. J. Legge of Shanghai, traveling with Mrs. Legge to London.

The Niagara will remain in Vancouver until next Wednesday, when she will sail on her outboard voyage to the South Seas.

MRS. S. UCHIDA DIES AT KOBE

Mrs. S. Uchida, wife of the former manager in the United States for the Osaka Shosen Kaisha, died early this week in Kobe, according to word received in Victoria this morning. Mr. Uchida is now manager for the O.S.K. in Kobe. With offices in both Seattle and New York, Mr. Uchida was a visitor in Victoria several times on business when the O.S.K. operated ships in the trans-Pacific service between the Orient and Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle. On several of his trips here he was accompanied by his wife.
